Carnivore Conservation in a Changing World

NOVEMBER 15-18, 2009

The Grand Hyatt Denver Denver, Colorado

www.carnivoreconference.org

Carnivores 2009 is a unique opportunity to get your products or services in front of more than 500 passionate and committed individuals while experiencing the beautiful vistas and venues of Denver, the gateway to the Rockies.

WHY EXHIBIT?

Carnivores 2009 assembles all the major stakeholders in one place. Every attendee is a potential customer, client or member, delivering tremendous return on your investment.

This will be Defenders' seventh biennial carnivore conservation conference, and it promises to build on our track record of providing academics, activists and wildlife professionals a much-needed forum for discussing the wide array of issues involved in carnivore conservation.

You'll enjoy a centrally located exhibit hall and plenty of chances to network with our attendees outside the exhibit area. The 2009 conference will feature a field trip and icebreaker event on Sunday, November 15, followed by three full days of conference sessions, ambassador wolf sessions on November 16 and 17 and a poster session reception and banquet on November 17. Sponsorship opportunities are also available.

Defenders of Wildlife appreciates the role our sponsors and exhibitors play in the carnivores conference and the important products and services you supply to our attendees. That's why we've been sure to build this event to give you maximum exposure to our attendees and to make it easy to exhibit with us. The following page lists everything you need to know to get started.

We look forward to seeing you in Denver!
